

Experiment for the hole

Installation

2012.6

glue

Arcus studio, Japan

text from the exhibition

//

Frosted glasses

are here between the inside and the outside.

I

sense the view out there.

face to this place

here.

Sing and draw.

May you sympathize.

White walls

Mirror-like floor

Talk to you : space

sound and light.

It melts, I imagine.

Dialogue resonates.

//

This installation is an experiment to search for a material for the hole.

The material I chose was glue, which gets dry and curly in winter.

In summer, it absorbs moisture and gets loose.

If it rains, it would melt.

May it happen.

Related images of the hole(2012.1)

Experiment view / Installation view

Wet material

Dry material

Installation view